

years teaching Learning Disabilities, 3rd and 4th grade, has become very active in heart awareness in her community.

She was "Heart Hero" at the American Heart Association's Heart Walk in Wood County this year and was also the leading individual fund raiser for this event.

Additionally, Monica has spent much of the past eight months working with Wood County Schools to get two AEDs (automatic external defibrillators) in each of the county's three high school football stadiums, one of these being placed at each stadium's concession stand and the other one's placement location being at each stadium's discretion.

For her persistence and desire to help other unsuspecting heart attack victims, we are proud to feature Monica in this weeks' Alumni Spotlight and proud that she is an alumna of Glenville State College.

GSC Theater Presents 'A Christmas Carol'

Students in Glenville State College's Theater program just wrapped up three successful showings of 'A Christmas Carol' as their second full performance of the fall 2017 semester.

The play, which follows Charles Dickens' familiar story but in an uncluttered and original way, tells the story of Ebenezer Scrooge, an old miser, and how a visit from his former business partner changes him into a kinder man.

The ensemble cast included Logan Saho, John Chambers, Eric Jones, Katie Miller, Erica Butler, Heather Salisbury, Grace Yu, Chase Rakes, Hannah Curfman, Stephen Boyer, Joshua Smith, Victoria Guillory, Shelby Riffle, Cassius Dotson, Annalyse Petty, Angeles Burgess, Mazie Elliott, Megan Sturm, Shiann Smith, and Preston Allison.
