

Community News

Sherry Moore, 47, of 12345 Main St., is the author of the book "The Art of Living: A Guide to a Fulfilling Life." The book, published by HarperCollins, is a collection of essays and stories that explore the meaning of life and how to live it to the fullest. Moore, who has been a professional writer for over 20 years, says the book is a result of her own journey of self-discovery and a desire to help others find their own path. The book is available in paperback for $14.95 and in hardcover for $24.95. For more information, contact Sherry Moore at (513) 555-1234.

The annual Christmas tree lighting ceremony will be held on Saturday, December 14, at 7:00 p.m. at the City Center. The event will feature live music, a tree lighting, and a display of holiday lights. Admission is free, and the event is open to the public. For more information, contact the City Center at (513) 555-5678.

The Glenville Community Center is currently accepting applications for its winter program. The program is designed for children and provides a safe and fun environment for them to enjoy during the winter months. Activities include ice skating, snow globes, and holiday crafts. The program runs from December 15 to January 15. For more information, contact the Glenville Community Center at (513) 555-9010.

Education is the key to a better future. The Glenville Public Schools are currently enrolling students for the next school year. The schools offer a variety of programs and activities to ensure that every student has the opportunity to succeed. For more information, contact the Glenville Public Schools at (513) 555-2345.

The Glenville Chamber of Commerce is currently seeking members for the next year. The chamber provides a variety of services and resources to its members, including networking opportunities and access to local business information. For more information, contact the Glenville Chamber of Commerce at (513) 555-3456.

